

The Winds of Change by Mary Kane

The winds of March are blowing in the Midwest, which usually means that spring will soon be here! Spring brings thoughts of renewal and change! Is it possible that the Winds of Change could bring a new season to your life this March? To do the study, just click on the link!